The Interscholastic Meet.

Next Friday, March 30, has been designated by county school superintendent Saathoff as the day for the County Interscholastic school League meet, and one of the greatest gatherings of school children, as well as grown-ups that ever congregated in Hondo in one day is expected to be in attendance. The activities of the day will consist of both athletic and mental contests and it is expected that the friends and patrons of the various schools that will take part will be on hand to encourage their favorites to do their utmost in whatever line of endeavor that has been assigned to them on the program of the day. And it should be borne in mind by the grown-ups that just the amount of interest shown by them in these meets will be reflected by the interest shown by the children, no more, no less, and if the children are to benefit by these exercises then their parents and friends must show interest.

These school meets are becoming regular features of all the leading schools of the state. They are encouraged by the best educators. They encourage a spirit of friendly rivalry among the scholars of the various schools and they also promote a feeling of good fellowship among the students that is commendable.

Arrange your affairs so as to be able to be in Hondo next Friday. The people here are expecting you; your friends from other parts of the county are expecting to meet you here, and your presence will be an incentive to the children of the school of which you are a patron to do their utmost in whatever line of endeavor they will undertake in the exercises of the day. Come and cheer your favorite on to victory or sympathize with them should fate be against them. Come, it will do you good to mingle with the kiddies and they will enjoy having you with them; and it will do you good to leave off the cares of business for a day and join the merry crowds that will make the school meet for 1917 a red letter day in the school annals of Medina County.

Philathea Class.

The Philathea Class met with Mrs. S. G. Carter Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Twenty-one members responded to roll call. There were three visitors present and one new member, Mrs. John Callahan, was added to the roll.

In the absence of the pastor the lesson was conducted by the president in her usual able manner the subject of the lesson being: "The Judges of Israel." After the lesson delicious refreshments consisting of ice-cream and cake were served and the usual social hour was spent. At the leave taking all declared Mrs. Carter a right royal hostess indeed.

Miss Bertha Childress.

News was received in Hondo about noon Thursday of the death of Miss Bertha Childress at the home of her parents in Yancey. While her death was not unexpected, it being known here that she was critically ill with pneumonia, her untimely passing occasioned many expressions of regret. She was about 21 years old, and a graduate of the Yancey school.

Funeral services were conducted in the Auditorium of the Yancey School and at the grave at 3:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon, enternment being made in the Yancey cemetery.

Besides her parents she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Weekly of Smiley, Texas, and one brother, Poik Childress of Yancey. The relatives have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their grief.

Prof. Peeler Re-elected.

Prof. J. W. Peeler has been unanimously re-elected Superintendent of the Hondo public schools by the board of school trustees for another year. We believe this action of the board will meet the undivided approval of the patrons of the schools. Prof. Peeler has labored earnestly for the welfare of the school; the school has made good progress under his superintendency and it was but a matter of the welfare of the school that he should be vested with its management for another term.

No other member of the faculty for the 1917-18 school year, so far as we are aware, has yet been named.

Local Athletic Meet.

In the local school meet held at New Fountain three schools participated: Enterprise, Quilhi and New Fountain.

Supt. Saathoff gave out the words in spelling, and Minnie Bracks was last to stand. Then several good declamations were given and were much enjoyed by all.

The New Fountain boys won three hotly-contested games of volley ball from Enterprise. The New Fountain girls, having failed to secure a match game with a girl's team during the season, took the opportunity of challenging the Enterprise boys; but the boys were too strong for them.

The apple races were very exciting events and created much interest. In the boys' contest Hugo Breiten came out first and in the girls' contest Bertha Boehle was the first to finish. In the running the New Fountain boys' team won the 440 yard relay, and the girls won the 140 yard relay.

Ernest Bendele of Enterprise won the 100 yard dash. He also tied with Henry Lindberg of New Fountain in the 50 yard dash. Bertha Boehle won the girls 30 yard dash.

Many took part in the running jump. An out-of-school boy made the highest mark and, of the school boys, Egin Stiegler was next best.

Several good games of dodge-ball were played.

The pupils who attended the meet seemed to enjoy it very much, and we believe it was a benefit to all who took part.

Revival Meeting.

The Nazarene church has arranged for a revival meeting embracing the last three Sundays of April, beginning on Friday night before the 3rd Sunday. Mrs. Bessie West of Glencove, Texas, will do the preaching, and her husband will lead the song service.

Sister West is a plain, earnest, zealous preacher of God's work. Every body is cordially invited, and all Christians earnestly insisted on to attend and take an active part in the salvation of the lost and the sanctification of God's Children.

Among the 2729 students in the long session of the University of Texas, 1915-1916, the Methodist church was represented by 847 affiliates; the Baptist, 496; Presbyterian, 396; Episcopal, 254; Christian, 233; Catholic, 99; Jewish, 71; Lutheran, 52; Congregational, 22; Church of Christ, 19; Christian Science, 16; Evangelical, 15; Unitarian, 5; Moravian, 3.

The University Y. M. C. A. is housed in a building costing $100,000, more than half of the men students of the University doing active work in this Association. The Y. M. C. A. also has a strong organization, 1157 of the University students enrolled pursued studies in the Bible. 33 former University students are either already missionaries in the foreign field or are engaged in preparation for that work. The Christian, the Episcopal and the Catholic Churches have erected special buildings for the use of the students, while the Methodist and Baptist churches have large church buildings adjacent to the campus. Provision has been made by the Methodist Church for the employment of a man to devote his entire time to giving Bible instructions.

Hondo Testimony.

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere.

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Hondo resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Forty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Hondo recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting!

John S. Koch, farmer, Hondo, says: "I suffered from lameness and soreness across the small of my back, which I believe was caused by straining. The complaint was most bothersome when I stooped or lifted. At these times my back felt weak and ached in a dull way. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have had no return of the complaint."

Stallion Sold for $20,000.

Investments in Bethlehem Steel and General Motors were discounted recently at a sale of trotting horses in Madison Square Garden when the bay stallion Guy Axworthy, 2:30 1/4, was struck off for $20,000 to Harry S. Harkness of Donerail, Ky. A little more than two years ago Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas sent the horse to one of the garden sales, where it brought $2,100.

Since then the horse has come into the limelight as the sire of Lee Axworthy, 1:58 1/4, king of trotting stallions and now generally regarded as the greatest trotter ever foaled.—New York Herald.

"Who's Homer?" Again.

There have not been lacking those who have been openly skeptical about our anecdote of the Greek who inquired "Who's Homer?" One of the skeptics took the anecdote and tried it out on a second Greek. The conversation was approximately this:

Skeptical Reader—Now, Demetri, no real Greek would say such a thing as "Who's Homer?" would he?

Second Greek—Well mister, maybe—

Skeptical Reader—You know all about Homer, don't you, Xenophon?

Second Greek—Well, mister, no; not that fellow. You see, Greece used to be a pretty big country!

Colds Coughs Catarrh

A trinity of evils, closely allied, that afflict most people, and which follow one on the other, in the order named, until the last one is spread through the system, leading to many evils. But their course can be checked.

PERUNA CONQUERS

It is of great value when used promptly for a cold, usually checking it and overcoming it in a few days. Ample evidence has proved that it is even of more value in overcoming chronic catarrh, dispelling the inflammatory conditions, enabling the diseased membranes to perform their natural functions, and toning up the entire system. The experience of thousands is a safe guide to what it may be expected to do for you. Liquid or tablets—both tested by the public and approved.

MORE FARMERS EN- ROLLED AT UNIVERSITY

As usual, in the occupations represented by the parents of students in the University of Texas, farmers are in the lead. Another notable fact is the number of widows sending their children to the University, there being last session 63. Some of the principal occupations for the year 1915-1916 are as follows: Farmers, 66; merchants, 261; lawyers, 61; doctors, 149; ranchmen and stockmen, 128; teachers, 2; real estate dealers, 87; bankers, 74; railroad men, 61; clerks and salesmen, 70; ministers, 51; drummers, 48; contractors, 38; insurance agents, 6; lumbermen, 33; druggists, 6; cotton buyers, 26; county engineers, 26; grocers, 20; newspaper men, 20; carpenters and mechanics, 20; oil men, 15; manufacturers, 15; housekeepers, 12; bookkeepers, 10; board-housekeepers, 11; dentists, stenographers, 8; dairymen, speculators, 6; musicians, 6; restaurant keepers, 5. Thieves' Insurance Plan.
Thieves' mutual aid society has been organized in London. Its aim is to police court fines inflicted on thieves. Offenders are insured against paying toward the support of society as they would in a life insurance proposition. It is said that both honest and dishonest men have clubbed together to form a livelihood from the business of the society. They appoint an official called "the banker," who collects the money, and it is his duty to go to court and pay the fines. In one case a youth caught stealing from his possession a card showing a fine of £2 for not paying fines of friends found guilty of theft.

WAIVED BY CONFLICT

WAR HAS CAUSED THE SPREAD OF ESPERANTO.

Instead of Injuring It, New Interest Has Been Aroused in the Language—Spreading Rapidly in the Far East.

At the outbreak of the European war Esperantists everywhere feared that the struggle would have an extremely unfavorable effect upon the progress of the international language. Great was our astonishment therefore when it gradually became apparent that just the opposite was true, remarks the writer of a letter to the editor of the New York Sun. The first important event that took place was the official recognition that Esperanto received from the government of Germany, which published an Esperanto translation of the original documents relating to the war and caused it to be widely distributed among Esperantists in the neutral countries. This was followed by a series of publications in Esperanto that history will show formed an important part of Germany's campaign of publicity in neutral lands. A few months later the Esperantists in France organized a society devoted to spreading an exact knowledge of the French "side" of the world war.

In all of the warring nations and in the few countries still at peace there has awakened a new interest in Esperanto, and it is now being studied by many who were not even aware of its existence a few years ago. This is particularly true of the soldiers of all the countries at war, prisoners of war and those interned in neutral lands. In the internment camp at Harderwyk, Holland, for instance, where there are several thousand Belgians and French soldiers, hundreds have already begun to learn Esperanto, and this is also true of another important camp at Zeist, where Esperanto is said to be spreading "like wildfire."

But the most interesting reports of our progress come from the Far East. There is now a large and flourishing society in China that has made thousands of "converts" to Esperanto; and Japan is much better represented than in former years. This is remarkable in view of the dissimilarity between Esperanto and the language of the Orient. I translate a paragraph from a letter I received some time ago from a friend in that quarter of the globe. Maj. R. L. Bush, who is stationed at Manila. Major Bush writes: "Last May and June I traveled through Japan and saw many beautiful places and beheld many wonderful scenes; it is a beautiful and interesting country. In Tokyo I met many fellow Esperantists, who were very hospitable and who did everything they could to make my visit a happy one. They guided me and treated me as a guest, and I made some very good friends." Major Bush now goes on to say that the Japanese Esperantists honored him highly as an American soldier, and that in recognition of this at a meeting of the Japanese Esperanto association he was presented with an ancient Japanese sword. He continues: "Esperanto was a great help to me in Tokyo; it gained me friends, through whose kindness I was enabled to see much more than I could possibly have seen by myself. I have always believed in the practical utility of the language, and I am now certain of it."

A language whose advocates are as widespread as the Esperantists must necessarily possess great commercial advantages. Business men in Germany, France, Russia and England are now making active use of it, and will increasingly continue to do so. A significant indication of the tendency of the times is afforded by the recent decision of the common council, Guildhall, London, that "whereas, England and her allies are preparing to act in concert in relation to future commercial affairs, it is highly desirable that one language be accepted as a commercial language, to be taught in all schools." And the resolution, which I have freely translated from an Esperanto version, goes on to recommend for consideration the languages of the allies, English, French and Russian and Esperanto.

Trade Will Make Peace.

The philosopher and lover of man have much harm to say of trade; but the historian will see that trade was the spirit of liberty; that trade planted America and destroyed feudalism; that it makes peace and keeps peace, and will abolish slavery.—Emerson.

MUSIC WILL HELP INVALID

Physicians Are Beginning to Believe More and More in the Good Effects of Sweet Strains.

During the thirteenth century, when the Arabs dominated a large portion of Europe and were "carrying the torch of learning" through that period, they established great hospitals for the treatment of all kinds of ailments. A striking feature of some of these hospitals was a music room, where musicians played continuously throughout the 24 hours for the benefit of the patients. The Arab physicians of that day believed that music had a very positive therapeutic effect.

Recently an analysis of the effects of various types of music has been made by Dr. Thomas Mays, which may be epitomized as follows: Major music is a tonic to the emotions which may be compared to a stimulant dose of strychnine of caffeine, while minor music depresses emotional activity in a manner comparable to bromide or a sleeping powder. The apparent objections to this theory are easily met; and Doctor Mays believes that music as an agent in the treatment of consumption has probably a stronger claim on the scientific attention of the medical profession than many of the remedies that are in use at the present time. Keeping in mind the undercurrent of tribulation and oppression that is nearly always present in the minds of those suffering from consumption, it would seem probable that by far the larger number of cases would receive benefit from various forms of major music. And the same would be true of any form of chronic disease.

For stages of high mental or nervous tension, minor music is indicated. And in this connection it is significant that music has been one of the therapeutic measures used in all our great insane asylums for more than a generation.

Mohammedan Law Barred.

Mohammedan law does not run in England was decided by the lord chief justice recently. Doctor Mir-Auwaruddin, a Mohammedan, and a member of the English bar, married in 1913, an English lady named Ruby Hood. After some time they separated, and the lady lived apart from her husband. The latter then began proceedings and obtained an order for restitution of conjugal rights, but this was not complied with, and proceedings for divorce were then begun by the wife, but were dismissed. Now, according to Mohammedan law, if the husband gives his wife a "writing of divorce," or as it is called "Talakh," this constitutes a divorce. Mir-Auwaruddin did this and then applied for a marriage license to enable him to marry again. This was refused, and the lord chief justice sitting with Justices Darling and Bray, upheld the refusal on the ground that as the applicant was married in England under the English law, to an English lady, the original marriage held good, and must be dissolved in an English court of law. The religious law of the applicant was not recognized.

Effect of Auto on Agriculture.

Every time an automobile displaces a horse five acres of land are added to the agricultural area of the country. Among the economic influences of the motor car, this is one phase that is commonly overlooked. There are about 26,000,000 horses in the United States and each horse consumes six to seven tons of food a year. It is easily figured that an average of five acres is required to furnish food for each horse. This means a total of 130,000,000 acres of land devoted to pastures and raising hay—over 200,000 square miles. This means land nearly five times as big as Ohio, or an area larger than Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, devoted to feeding horses instead of people. Of course, the releasing of all this area from pasture uses and making it available for the support of population will be a tremendous economic gain.

The Real Hardship.

Some men were excavating for a cellar in Columbus and the ground was hard where they were working. They had a team of mules hitched to a plow and one man handled the reins while another swung on the plow handles and tried to guide. The afternoon was hot, the mules were lazy, the ground seemed to get harder and harder, and the men toiled away, inwardly boiling.

"That ground's pretty hard," suggested a passer.

The man at the plow handles glanced at the driver. The latter seemed about to explode because of too much pent-up emotion. He nodded in the driver's direction.

"That ain't the worse part of it," he explained. "You see there are so many women sitting on these porches around here that he can't cuss his mules."—Indianapolis News.

Keeping Sheep Warm.

Through the agency of certain ranchers in the state of Washington their sheep were kept warm during the intensely cold weather of last year by a most unusual device. A supply of natural gas on the land where the sheep grazed had been piped and the gas issued from it at high pressure. The ranchmen in the vicinity devised a metal hood which they fastened over the upper end of the pipe. When the gas was lighted and allowed to flow freely it made a circular canopy of flame which heated the air for a considerable area. In this warmed region the sheep gathered and were kept warm in weather that would otherwise have proved fatal.

Former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., Endorses Tanlac.

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again, For I Am Getting Well," He Writes Friend.

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers—The Birmingham Age-Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta, Mr. Evans says:

"Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 2, 1916. By the way, you will hardly know me when we meet again because I am getting well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headache, belching, heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon recommendation of friends, who had tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know that I am not given to 'pulling' mere experiments and am rather orthodox as to materia medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results. (Signed) 'Frank V. Evans.'"

Commenting on this splendid endorsement of Tanlac, G. F. Willis, Southern Distributor of Tanlac, said:

"Although the list of prominent endorsers is a long one, I recall a few leading names that lend both dignity and credit to the entire array. Some of them are:

"Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, ex-Sheriff of Fulton County; Hon. McKenzie Moss, Judge of the Eighth District of Kentucky; Hon. Moses R. Glenn, Superintendent of Printing for the State of Kentucky; Col. Jno. D. Gains, Editor and Publisher, Bowling Green, Ky.; Mr. C. C. Cooper, President Georgia Cotton Oil Co.; Mr. H. W. Hill, Bank President of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Mr. J. F. Carroll, Cotton Mill Superintendent of Chastahocnee, Ga.; Hon. S. S. Shepherd, ex-City Councilman of Atlanta, and many others whose names have heretofore been given to the public."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

Victor Lombardo and Miss Petra Alvarez were married at the court house March 14, 1917. Judge A. M. Lamm performed the ceremony.

One of the undisputed features with the Christy Hippodrome Shows is Marinella, the 20th Century Marvel, Sandow's only rival, representing a series of physical and muscular gymnastic exhibitions on the flying ring never before attempted by any performers. The great Marinella was first brought to this country and featured by the Carl Hagenbeck Circus in 1915; since then appearing at most of larger theatres in this country; see him and witness the perfection of muscular development.

Major Ezra C. Clemens delivered his famous lecture, "Johnnie Appleseed," at the Methodist church last Friday night before a large audience. Major Clemens is endeavoring to raise a fund for the pensioning of old and superannuated ministers—a work that he has engaged in for the past several years in his own state, Wisconsin. He was chaplain of the Wisconsin troops on the border, and is prolonging his stay here in the interest of his undertaking. His visit here was quite successful several pledging contributions to the endowment funds. Major Clemens is a nephew of the late celebrated Mark Twain and has inherited the humor of his famous uncle which was interspersed throughout his lecture which was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

To My Mother.

She is not here; but still I know
She watches all I do below,
And smiles on me with her sweet eyes
From her far home in paradise.

She is not here; but still I feel
Her guardian wings in woe or weal,
Arch o'er me with celestial calm
To keep my soul from sin's alarm.

She is not here; and yet she lives!
Where every flower its perfume gives;
Where'er my truant feet may stray
I see her image every day.

She is not here; yet memory brings
Her voice in every bird that sings;
And through the plenitude of years
My heart shall shrine her love in tears.

Old Indian Fighters Entitled to Pension.

Congressman Garner calls attention to the act recently passed by Congress granting pensions to survivors of Indian wars which has been amended to include all those who took part in defending the borders of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona between January 1, 1859 to January 1, 1881.

There are said to be more than 600 of those veterans residing in the three Southwestern States. The provisions of the act include all officers and men who enlisted in Volunteer Texas organizations in various Indian wars between the dates covered. These include the operations against Comanches, Apaches, Cheyennes, Arapahoes and Kiawas.

The benefits of the act are extended to all who served as long as thirty Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Where there is no record of enlistment or muster into United States service, the record of pay by the Government can be used as evidence. When this is not obtainable records of the State archives can be used. ### Killed, Wounded and Missing in Great European Conflict

Washington, March 11.—The following statement of combatants killed, wounded, captured and missing in the European war has been compiled from the best sources of information.

The table is as nearly complete up to Jan. 1 of this year as the body of experts engaged in its preparation could make it.

Nation.	Killed.	Wounded.	Captured and Missing.	Total.
England.....	205,400	102,500	107,500	515,400
France.....	870,000	540,800	400,000	1,810,800
Russia.....	1,500,000	784,200	800,000	3,084,200
Italy.....	165,000	49,000	55,000	269,000
Belgium.....	50,000	22,000	40,000	112,000
Serbia.....	60,000	28,000	.....	88,000
Totals.....	2,790,400	1,526,500	1,402,500	5,818,400
Germany.....	893,200	450,000	245,000	1,588,200
Austria-Hungary.....	523,100	355,000	591,000	1,469,100
Turkey.....	127,000	110,000	70,000	307,000
Bulgaria.....	7,500	7,000	6,000	20,000
Totals.....	1,550,800	922,000	912,000	3,384,800

These losses are based upon the assumption that in Germany 90 per cent of the total wounded return to the front and 80 per cent in all the other countries.

The Call of The Nations

Wanted more men—for the dead and the dying.

Yonder where many a river runs red,

Heaped in the war-riven trenches are lying—

Men must be found who can die in their stead,

Ever the call of the cannon roars louder;

"Hurry us troops till we're sated again;

March forth battalions of food for our powder,

Search through the world for them—wanted, more men!"

Wanted, more men—for the best have been taken;

Their rifles are silent, their war songs are stilled,

Their posts are deserted, their banners forsaken—

Never again can they kill or be killed!

The God of the Battlefield smiles on the stronger,

Soon the grim tide may be turned, but till then

The line must be held for a little while longer,

Hasten them out to us—wanted, more men!

Wanted, more men—in the shock of the battle

A thousand may stand but a minute or two;

March out the regiments, drive them like cattle,

Send all you find, be they many or few.

Fill up the gaps in the ranks that are shattered,

Set the big guns at their red work again;

Soon they'll be broken and fallen and scattered,

And still will the watchword be: "Wanted, more men!"

—James J. Montague, in Pittsburg Post.

persons who are entitled to pensions under this act, and there are a number of them in Uvalde and adjoining counties, to write to him at Washington, or to the Commissioner of Pensions at Washington, for application blanks. Addressing him here at Uvalde will cause unnecessary delay and their requests sent to his Washington address will receive prompt attention.

He also advises them that the assistance of a lawyer is unnecessary. They may simply write for the application blanks, which will be sent them with full instructions how to proceed. These blanks should be procured at once, as the pension will begin with the date of the filing of the application and, although some time may be consumed in actually getting the first payment of the pension, it will include all back payments to the date when the application was filed.—Uvalde Leader-News.

FIND OZONE BEST

SURGEONS IN WAR HOSPITALS
USE IT PROFUSELY.

Other Oxidizing Agents Have Been Proved Open to Some Form of Objection, but This Has Been Proved Satisfactory.

Among the branches of surgery to which the exigencies of the European war have acted as a sharp stimulus may be mentioned the treatment of infected wounds. The proportion of patients who reach the military hospitals with their injuries thus aggravated is said to be so large as to have given great importance to the subject of antiseptics, since obviously the perfect aseptic treatment which must be enjoyed in ordinary hospitals in time of peace is out of the question for the majority of battle wounds.

Many antiseptics, which are, though excellent germicides, are so toxic that there is danger of their harming the vitality of the tissues surrounding the wound. For this reason hydrogen peroxide is said to be admirable, since it is germicidal without being in any way injurious to healthy cells. However, it is not adequate in those cases, so common in warfare, where there is a serious amount of suppuration. It is almost instantly decomposed, not only by pus, but by blood and most of the other liquids of the body tissues, so that the amount of nascent oxygen released is insufficient for the requirements of a serious wound.

The search for an oxidizing agent not open to this objection, according to a writer in the Scientific American, led to the trial of ozone, either dissolved in water and used in copious irrigations, or in a gaseous state, mixed with ordinary diatomic oxygen. The latter style of treatment is especially advantageous in the case of wounds which are slow in forming a scab, since the most spacious bandages often have a tendency to rub off the fresh scar tissue.

This difficulty is avoided in the process in question by surrounding the wound with a hermetically sealed shell, into which can be passed the gaseous current. This method possesses the extraordinary advantage of leaving the wound open to the beneficial action of the solar radiations as well. Then, too, the total exclusion of the ordinary air from the tissue under treatment makes impossible the formation of nitrogen compounds, which might prove decidedly irritant.

The other mode of application, through the use of ozonized water, has been found particularly satisfactory for large shattered wounds, where the tissues have been directly invaded by septic substances.

Chocolate in the Trenches.

This afternoon, everything being quiet, I invited the neighboring section commander to come and spend a little time with me. In the trenches we rarely have anything to drink but wine and coffee, and, by the way of special feast, I decided to make some chocolate. So I sent for a canteen of water and poured some of the precious fluid into my pan and devoutly emptied in the chocolate and sugar. It was shimmering gently on my brazier, and I was just on the point of adding condensed milk, when someone called me from the outside. It was my orderly coming to see if I needed anything. I invited him to join us, but at the precise moment the stupid battery of a 77 began to spit its six shells at us. Two burst so near that my faithful 'tampon' stumbled in fright and fell headlong, taking with him brazier, saucepan and chocolate—our chocolate so nearly ready, which our eyes were drinking so hungrily. The poor chap was most unhappy, so I laughed; but I must confess my laugh was a bit sickly. At that moment I detected the Germans worse than ever.—From a French Lieutenant's Diary in the Atlantic.

Finely Milled Bread Seems Best.

Commenting on the recent order of the British board of trade that in milling wheat 80 per cent of its weight must be recovered in flour, instead of 70 per cent as formerly. Nature remarks that bread made from 80 per cent flour is not so nutritious as that made from 70 per cent flour. And it adds:

"Although 80 per cent bread contains on the average rather more protein than 70 per cent bread, the digestibility of the protein in the former is rather lower, so that the actual weight of protein digested by the average individual from one pound of 80 per cent bread is rather less than the amount digested from one pound of 70 per cent bread. Again, the energy value of 80 per cent bread is rather lower than that of 70 per cent bread."

An Apple a Day.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away," is the old saying so often proved true. Now, the best way to provide these apples is to place them in a brown wooden bowl or basket, where each member of the family can help himself or herself. One of the new mahogany fruit bowls piled high with red-cheeked apples is an ornament to any living room table or buffet. To go with the apples there is now to be had a silver corer and parer with a wooden handle. This, though sterling, is as sharp as any apple corer in the kitchen, and much more sightly.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 6

If It Fits You Wear This Cap

By Herbert Kaufman

Advertising isn't a crucible with which lazy, bigoted and incapable merchants can turn incompetency into success—but one in which brains and tenacity and courage can be poured and changed into dollars. It is only a short cut across the fields—not a moving platform. You can't "get there" without "going some."

It's a game in which the worker—not the shirker—gets rich.

By its measurement every man stands for what he is and for what he does, not for what he was and what he did.

Every day in the advertising world is another day and has to be taken care of with the same energy as it's yesterday.

The quitter can't survive where the plugger has a ghost of a chance.

Advertising doesn't take the place of business talent or business management. It simply tells what the business is and how it is managed. The snob whose father created and who is content to live on what was handed to him can't stand up against the man who knows he must build for himself.

What makes you think that you are entitled to prosper as well as a competitor who works twice as hard for his prosperity?

Why should as many people come to your store as patronize a shop that makes an endeavor to get their trade and shows them that it is worth while to come to its doors?

Why should a newspaper send as many customers to you in half the time it took to fill an establishment which advertised twice as long and paid twice as much for its publicity?

This is the day when the best man wins—after he proves that he is the best man—when the best store wins, when it has shown that it is the best store—when the best goods win, after they've been demonstrated to be the best goods.

If you want the plum you can't get it by lying under the tree with your mouth open waiting for it to drop—too many other men are willing to climb out on the limb and risk their necks in their eagerness to get it away from you.

It is a man's game—this advertising—just hanging on and tugging and straining all the time to get and keep ahead. It is the finite expression of the law of competition which sits in blind-folded justice over the markets of the world.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN

EDITED BY

W. N. SAATHOFF

And the University Department of Extension

Teachers Have Short Lives in Texas.

The professional life of the teacher in Texas averages less than four years. More than one-fourth of the more than 25,000 public school teachers in Texas quit the business every year. This means that every twelve months approximately 6,000 inexperienced boys and girls must be enrolled to fill up the depleted ranks, all of which means that twenty-five per cent of Texas' school children are annually subjected to the experiment of a novice teacher.

This also means that the country schools are suffering more from inexperienced teachers than the city schools, for since most teachers are initiated in the country, many country schools are in effect little more than practice schools for the training of city teachers.

Teaching is not a profession in Texas; it is merely a temporary employment in most cases. It never can become a real profession until it is made more lucrative and attractive as a life business to strong men and women.

So long as teaching as a business remains so undesirable that it is but a stepping stone to something else, the inferiority of the Texas public schools will be attributable to inefficient teachers more than any other single cause.

But the evils of the short life of the teacher are further augmented by the roving practice of those teachers who remain in the profession longer than the average. In Medina County, rural schools 1916-17, investigation showed that out of a total of 51 teachers, only 18 were teaching the same school they taught the previous year, 5 had held the same position for a period of three years or more and 23 had never before taught in the county. That similar conditions obtain in much of the State this year, no well informed persons will dispute. That an army of migratory teachers can never make a complete educational conquest of Texas we are all agreed. What then can we do to draw able people to the profession, retain them in the profession, and render their tenure of office more secure. Note what Denmark has done:

(1) Each teacher is at least a graduate of one of the twenty normal schools. (2) The teachers hold office

during good behavior and seldom remain less than seven to ten years in the same community. (3) All country teachers are provided with free homes, free fuel, and a garden. (4)

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

Sponge Cake
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add 1/2 cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder

Paul W. Wilkey Killed.

Funeral arrangements for Paul Wilkey, aged 28, killed early Sunday morning on the outskirts of Nogales when the automobile he was driving turned turtle, have not yet been completed, pending a consultation of relatives.

Corporal Charles Hartwein, of the Twelfth Infantry, injured in the wreck, is resting well at St. Joseph's hospital today and will recover from his injuries. He was bruised severely but was not injured seriously.

The automobile in which the two were riding was demolished almost completely.

Details of the accident are meagre. It was learned from Hartwein that the two were coming into Nogales at a fair rate of speed when a front tire blew out, causing the auto to swerve into a ditch, turning two complete somersaults.

Passenger lifted the machine from off the two men. Wilkey's head was crushed. He was also cut and bruised in other parts of the body. Hartwein was removed to St. Joseph's hospital in an unconscious condition.

The body of Wilkey is being prepared for interment by Marsh Undertaking company.

Wilkey is survived by his widow, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wilkey, and six brothers. It is probable that his body will be shipped to Hondo, Tex., his former home, for interment.

A shadow of gloom settled over Nogales Sunday morning when it was learned that Wilkey had been killed. He was one of the most popular young men in the city. He had been a resident of Nogales about a year, but recently moved to Patagonia where he had business interests. —Nogales Daily Herald.

Paul Wilkey was born in Hondo, and while he left here when a mere boy he is remembered by the early inhabitants of this place. He was a cousin of our fellowtownsman, I. H. Wilson. The body was not brought here for interment as indicated by the clipping from the Nogales paper, but was buried out there. Friends of the family here are grieved to hear of this untimely death.

In Memoriam.

By the Boy Local, of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union. In the early dawn of Thursday, Feb. 15th, the sweet spirit of Miss Hilda Naegelin winged its happy flight to the paradise of God.

In a home recently darkened by the loss of the father whose death just preceded hers, the summons came to her to go down to the crossing and over into that endless future that lies out beyond.

Death indeed is sad when the old are called, but sadder still when one standing in the sun rise of a young life yields to the grim reaper all that earth holds dear.

We of her acquaintances remember her as a ministering angel of her home and the members of the Farmers' Union of this place of which she was a devoted and consistent member will cherish her memory for the impress of her noble character will long be felt among us.

Her remains were lovingly and tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery at Hondo, there awaiting the judgment day.

Too many fertile imaginations run to weeds.

Proper Color for Living Rooms

A recent investigation into the light-reflecting qualities of different colored walls sheds some practical light on the question of what color the walls of living rooms should be tinted. The results of the research show that white walls reflect by far the most light; they throw back 99 per cent of the light that falls upon them. The other colors in order of their light-reflecting qualities are: Cream, rose, yellow, blue and green. This list refers to light tints of these colors. Dark blue reflects only 12 per cent of the light falling on it; dark green only 11 per cent. Living rooms should be tinted in light, clear colors to assure cheerful brightness.

How Thoughtless

Ira E. Guthrie, secretary of the Interstate Public Service company, was riding to his office on an Indianapolis street car the other day when the driver of a small car speeded out of a cross street and struck the street car squarely amidships. The street car conductor got off to investigate and collect evidence for his official report. "What's the matter with you?" the conductor asked the driver: "Don't you know you can't run under my car with your top up?" —Indianapolis News.

Quite True

"Say," snarled the irascible editor, "these verses of yours are not worth the paper they are written on."
"Maybe not," replied the poet, modestly. "The paper shortage is so acute nowadays that hardly anything is worth the paper it is written on, unless it is a check." —Birmingham Age-Herald.

Poultry Feeding

The problems of poultry feeding require good judgment and keen observation. Hens fed for egg production should have foods high in the food elements. Those fed in the fattening pens should have the foods which most economically produce fat. The best ration, then, is the one which supplies most economically the food requirements of the bird for the purpose for which it is kept.

BIRTH OF THE LINEN COLLAR

According to History, Blacksmith's Wife Invented Modern Man's Greatest Affliction.

The wife of a Troy (N. Y.) blacksmith is said to have been the first person to have made separate collars for men's shirts. This happened in 1825, and men have been suffering ever since. Outside of inventing the separate collar, this woman did the family washing.

Accordingly she set herself to work making separate collars for her husband's shirts and then made enough to sell outside the home. This innovation attracted the attention of Rev. Ebenezer Brown, a retired Methodist minister, and he, with the aid of the women of his family, went about selling collars. This was in 1820.

All the work on these early collars was done by hand, for the sewing machine had not yet been invented. In those days not more than a dozen collars a day were sold. Their name—"string collars"—was specially appropriate, for they were tied around the neck with a string of tape attached to each end of the collar. Except the bands, the first separate collars were generally all linen and of two thicknesses, although some were faced with cotton cloth. They were slightly stiffened and had high points extending above the chin on either side. —Popular Science Monthly.

Moving-Picture Types

"There are three types of photographs," writes Vachel Lindsay, the poet, in "The Arts of the Moving Picture," and he proceeds to classify them as pictures of action, pictures of intimacy and pictures of splendor.

"The action pictures are those when the outpouring of physical force at high speed is the main source of drama. 'The Spoilers,' from the novel of Rex Beach, is an example.

"The intimate pictures are based on the ability to photograph and magnify small groups 'close up.' They give us idyls, genre pictures, village comedies and the like.

"The splendor pictures may be subdivided in four sorts. The fairy tale splendor is such a production as 'Cinderella,' played by Mabel Taliaferro. The patriotic splendor is such a one as 'Cabrera,' a story of ancient Italy. The crowd splendor is the panorama where the principal dramatic asset is in showing the changing moods of informal public gatherings."

To Detect Gas in Mines

A new electrical instrument to detect explosive gas in mines has just been patented. Such an instrument is necessary because of the greatly increased use of electric mine lamps instead of the old-time Davy safety lamps. The Davy lamp gave the miner warning of the presence of gas, but the electric flash lamp, of course, does not. The new detector consists of two glowing electric wires connected in series. One wire is treated so as to burn more brightly in gas-laden air than in pure air. In perfectly pure air the two wires glow with exactly the same brightness. By noting the difference in the brightness of the two indicators the miner can not only detect the presence of dangerous gas but can also tell almost exactly how much of it is present.

Unseemly newspaper men

What is known as a "scoop" in America does not exist in Japan. If one newspaper has a particularly choice item of news, it communicates it to other papers. What is the use of being selfish? After all, it is the editorial opinion that counts, but even in this there is an exchange of courtesy, because it is a common thing for one paper to remark that the other "commented editorially as follows yesterday." —Archibell in World Outlook.

Substitute for Jute

Since the commencement of the war the price of jute has gone up, and consequently substitutes are being sought, with the result that it has been found that Cuba has a plant of considerable promise. This is known as "malva," heretofore considered a weed, that grows in many parts of the island.
